Appointments and Promotions

PAULINE M. MAKI, PHD
ASSOCIATE DEAN FOR FACULTY AFFAIRS
COM Faculty Affairs

The College of Medicine’s Office of Faculty Affairs oversees matters relating to the medical school faculty at all four campuses including:

- Promotion and tenure
- Faculty mentoring
- Tenure rollbacks
- Mid-probationary reviews
- Track switches
- Leaves of absence including sabbaticals
- Elections to college and campus-level committees

Faculty Development Opportunities

Organizational Leadership in Academic Medicine for New Associate Deans and Department Chairs - Call for Applications: Establishing yourself in a new role can be challenging, but it can be even more difficult when the role is a highly visible leadership position like an associate dean or department chair. Join us for the AAMC Organizational Leadership in Academic Medicine for New Associate Deans and Department Chair seminar October 11-13, 2022 and equip yourself with the critical leadership skills you need to tackle your range of new operational and organizational responsibilities. Learn more, see the full agenda, and apply here.

Scholars for Teaching Excellence Faculty Fellowship (STEFF) Program - Call for Applications: The Faculty Fellowship is a program for faculty interested in developing their capabilities as teachers and educational leaders. Although we focus on teaching in Health Professions Education, faculty in all fields are welcome and will find the material and Annual and Mid-Probationary Reviews

- During the annual review, faculty and head should discuss unit expectations in terms of teaching, scholarship and service, and review the criteria for promotion.

- Tenure-track junior faculty will also have a formal mid-probationary review in Year 3 of their probationary period.

- Faculty are evaluated under the norms that were in place at the time of hire, unless they choose to be evaluated under more recently adopted norms. Make sure that you and your department head are clear on the norms by which you wish to be assessed.
P&T and Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

• All College of Medicine faculty, regardless of track or rank, are expected to demonstrate a commitment to Diversity, Equity and Inclusion.

• As part of the promotion process, candidates must include a personal statement on their philosophy, commitment, and work to promote diversity, equity, and inclusion at UIC. This is an opportunity for faculty to be recognized for their broad engagement in these important activities.

• Note: The DEI statement is optional for those hired before August 16, 2021.
Why Am I In Visiting Status?

- Faculty may hold a “visiting” modifier in their title for a variety of reasons including:
  - The appointment is of limited duration, pending movement into a more permanent position requiring a formal search.
  - The appointment is for tenure-track assistant professor which requires prior approval by the BOT.
  - The appointment is at advanced rank (associate professor or professor) which requires review by the College and Campus.
When Will I Go Up for Promotion?

• Tenure track assistant professors go up for tenure review in Year 6; packet preparation begins in spring of Year 5.

• Non-tenure track faculty are not on a specific timeline for promotion, but at least 5 years at rank are expected in addition to meeting the criteria for advancement.

• Faculty may go up early for promotion but this is risky. The candidate must not just meet but exceed the criteria; early promotions are often turned down by the College promotions committee.

“There is no guru”

“In a perfect world, your department would be organized in such a way as to welcome and support you during your transition from graduate student to professor. In reality, it will most likely be your responsibility to identify your needs and find ways to meet them. Along with that responsibility comes the realization that you have tremendous power (even if it doesn’t always feel like it). In other words, you don’t have to be dependent on a single guru-mentor because YOU have the power to create a network of support that is populated by people who are invested in your success. This collective will enable you to feel supported before, during, and after problems arise in your department. It will provide you with opportunities, connections, and reference groups that extend far beyond your college or university. And most importantly, it will serve as a buffer to decrease any alienation, loneliness, and stress that you may feel at your current institution.”

• 67% of our new COM Faculty reported being “Somewhat”, “Slightly”, or “Not At All” confident in identifying and locating COM Resources relevant to their job requirements in Clinical Affairs, Medical Education, Research, and Service.

• Our goal in the Spring New Faculty Orientation Program is to introduce our new Faculty to outstanding resources available in these areas.

• COM Leadership has worked with us to create a centralized, curated directory of these resources on the new Faculty Affairs Orientation website https://medicine.uic.edu/office-of-faculty-affairs/
COM Orientation Annual Programming

• Fall Orientation Event (August)
  • Orientation to your appointment
  • Promotion and tenure (P&T) requirements
  • Establish relationships with near-peers and far-peers with similar appointments

• Spring Orientation Event (April)
  • Introduction to the many excellent, decentralized COM Resources for Clinical Affairs, Research, Teaching, and Service
  • Regional Campus Resources (Peoria, Urbana-Champaign, Chicago)
  • Specific ways to use these resources to advance your P&T goals
  • Ongoing efforts to promote the success, retention, and wellness of COM Diverse, Equitable, and Inclusive Faculty
